

Monday 6 May 2019

11:00-12:00 Julia Zakkou (Freie Universität Berlin)
Levels of evaluation

12:00-12:20 coffee break

12:20-13:00 John Eriksson (University of Gothenburg)
The nature of the evaluative - an expressivist perspective

13:00-15:00 lunch break

15:00-15:40 Katharina Felka (University of Graz)
A deflationary account of moral discourse

15:40-16:20 Nils Franzén (Uppsala University)
Evaluative discourse and emotive states of mind

16:20-16:50 tea break

16:50-17:30 Natasha Korotkova and Pranav Anand (University of Konstanz, UC Santa Cruz)
Find

17:30-18:10 Elsi Kaiser and Catherine Wang (University of Southern California)
'Fact or opinion?': An experimental investigation on the recognition of evaluative content

Tuesday 7 May 2019

10:15-11:15 Heather Burnett (LLF, CNRS-Université Paris Diderot)
A materialist semantics for social meaning

11:15-11:40 coffee break

11:40-12:20 Alba Moreno-Zurita and Eduardo Pérez-Navarro (University of Granada)
Slurs and non-propositional content

12:20-13:00 Sara Bernstein (University of Notre Dame)
Bias-infused evaluative terms

13:00-15:00 lunch break

15:00-16:00 Mary Kate McGowan (Wellesley College)
On the ubiquity of norm enactment in language use

16:00-16:20 tea break

16:20-17:00 Kevin Reuter (University of Bern)
Two ways of being normative: thickness vs. dual character

17:00-17:40 Caleb Perl (CU Boulder)
Might ethical debunking rest on a linguistic mistake?